State Highway 58.

the trail via Lookout Mountain Road west of U.S. Highway Illinois Streets or Lions Park at 10th and Maple Streets.

Vanover Park at Water and Ford Streets, the Visitor Center Golden Community Center and the downtown area. The Trails connect nearby neighborhoods to schools, the Clear Creek Trail and a popular mountain bike area. Biking is one-way on eastern access is in the City of Golden. The trail is 2.3 miles Apex Trail provide a link to neighboring communities and open space.

The City of Golden offers an extensive and interconnected Trails network of 150 miles that are open to pedestrians, bicycles, and equestrians from May 15 to October 15, except for the first week in November, when all equestrian use is prohibited. The trails are 2.5 miles long, 30 feet wide, and open to the public from dawn to dusk.

Open Space Etiquette

• Bikes must yield to the right-of-way to other trail users
• Be respectful of residential neighborhoods and mind noise levels especially after dark
• Do not harass wildlife

Lions Park and Golden Community Center

Golden Cliffs Preserve

and south of Castle Rock on South Table Mountain.

Dells Park to Tripp Street. Access the trail via the Heritage Square parking lot off Highway 40 and runs adjacent to Clear Creek for .7 mile up the canyon. This trail is an excellent pedestrian trail in the hot summer months; it provides a critical north-south access to the community along Highway 70.

Johnson Road Trail

The Johnson Road Trail starts at the intersection of South Golden Road and Front Street and travels south along South Golden Road where it intersects with the 6th Avenue Trail. The trail is approximately 2.5 miles.

Johnson Road to Splash Trail

The Johnson Road to Splash Trail also connects Johnson Road with I-70, providing a direct route to Golden.

Highway 93 Trail

Highway 93 Trail is continuous on the east side of Highway 93 from I-70 east of Golden to I-70 east of Golden to Golden.

City of Golden or to 6th Street. The trail is 2.5 miles long, 30 feet wide, and open to the public from dawn to dusk.

Cressman Gulch Trail

Cressman Gulch Trail begins at Ford Street and Mesa Drive, across from Norman D. Park. It is a steady climb for .7 mile. It is east of downtown Golden and is open to pedestrians, bicycles, and equestrians from May 15 to October 15, except for the first week in November, when all equestrian use is prohibited.

Bicycling on the Johnson Road Trail is not recommended due to the heavy traffic and narrow, winding road.

The trail to the Golden Cliffs is advanced with grades exceeding 20%. Hiking is prohibited. Hikers must yield to climbers and to climbing activities along the cliffs. Access the trail via the south end of Peery Drive.

Hayden Park on Green Mountain is the second largest park in Golden, located near the south edge of the city. The park provides a comprehensive nature center built in 1997. It contains interactive exhibits, a gift shop and classrooms.

Johnson Road Trail

The Johnson Road Trail starts at the intersection of South Golden Road and Front Street and travels south along South Golden Road where it intersects with the 6th Avenue Trail. The trail is approximately 2.5 miles.

Johnson Road to Splash Trail

The Johnson Road to Splash Trail also connects Johnson Road with I-70, providing a direct route to Golden.

Highway 93 Trail

Highway 93 Trail is continuous on the east side of Highway 93 from I-70 east of Golden to I-70 east of Golden to Golden.